SUMMER PLANNING — 2018

are you an Eagle, an Owl, a Dove, or a Peacock?

35 lovely members of our State membership met in the Forest, Federation Forest that is, and did some Summer Planning in July! We discussed Programs, Projects, Scholarships, and Endowments! We also participated in a fun personality assessment to answer the question... Are you an Eagle, an Owl, a Dove, or a Peacock? We'll just leave those results to your imagination!

Don't Delay!!

The deadline for WSR registration is fast approaching! The CALL was previously sent via email but can still be found on our website if you're in need!

Worldy Wisdoms...

GFWC-WA had a good turnout at the GFWC Convention in St. Louis. The Fashion Show with the Washington state outfit modeled by Cindy Bassage was a fun event. All the outfits were outstanding. The Wonder Woman outfit won First Place, but all the ladies were winners. It was good to hear from the Partners and to start looking at what we can work on for the next year.

The 2018 – 2020 GFWC-WS Board held a successful summer planning session at Federation Forest on July 14th. Thirty-four ladies attended this event. We shared information, starting with an ice-breaker featuring groups of Eagles, Doves, Peacocks and Owls. We continued the event with information for the club presidents and chairpersons. We learned about the Endowment fund; my special project, The Relay for Life; and the GFWC Grand Initiatives. This was a wonderful event supported by the Federation Forest Rangers and club women.

GFWC has posted the 2018 – 2020 information on the website, www.gfwc.org. This is a great resource for ideas and projects.

The call for the 2018 Fall Board is included in this newsletter. Please plan to attend this event in Yakima on September 28, 29 and 30. One of the GFWC Grand Initiatives is to support Soles 4 Shoes by bringing new or gently-used shoes to this Fall Board meeting. Carlene Garner has agreed to collect the shoes for donation to a DSW store.

Thank you for everyone's support,

Betty MacMaster
GFWC-Washington State
President 2018-20

RELAY For LIFE

Relay for Life is the GFWC-WS President's Special Project focus for this administration. If your Club has participated in RfL this past spring or summer -- THANK YOU! Please remember to report how you participated and all funds raised! If your Club was not able to take part in a local event or donate to a participating team, you may still do so by making a donation to: GFWC-WS noting on the memo line of the check Relay for Life.

Scholarship Committee

When developing your club's annual budget, please include a budget line for state scholarships. Young women are the future of our Clubs!

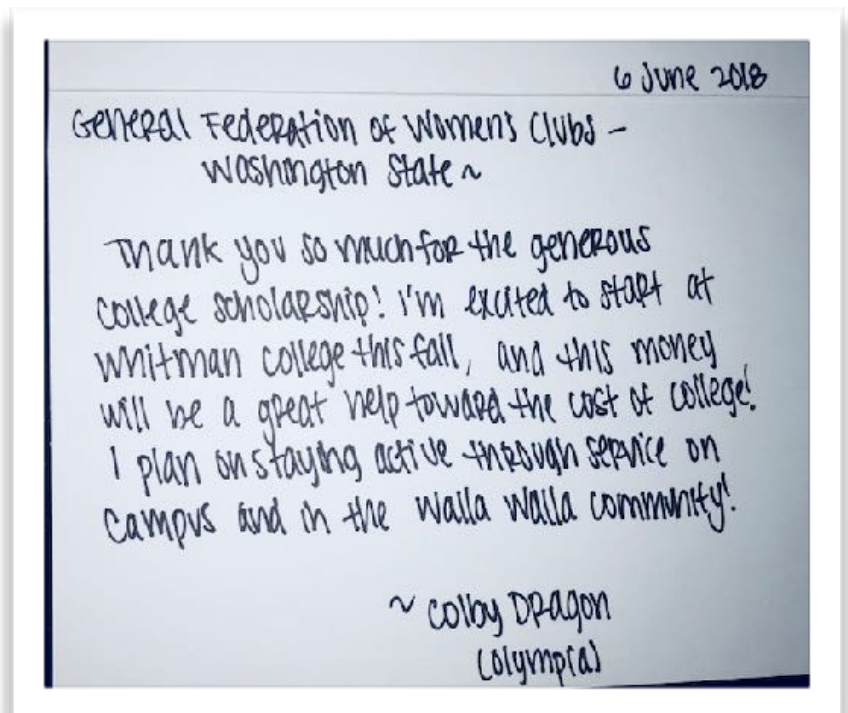

The GFWC-WS Scholarship Committee would like to remind you to donate to our State Scholarship Fund(s) when sending in dues this fall. On the dues form, you will see an option to add funds to the GFWC-WS Fund &/or the Kathy Estep Scholarship Fund, which is an additional scholarship given to first place awardees. The greater the amount of donations we receive, the more scholarships we can award to female students in Washington State, and the more exposure this gives our Clubs!

We look forward to seeing you at Fall Board in September. Keep an eye open for our table with fun Scholarship facts and a place to deposit your loose change (lighten your load!). Your coins will be deposited into the GFWC-WS Scholarship Fund.

Thank you for your generosity,
Janice Orr, Chairman
Rena Johnston and Audrey Charron
2018-2020 Scholarship Committee

Thank you note from Colby Dragon, one of this year's 2nd place recipients. Colby was sponsored by GFWC Olympia.

Endowment Funds

“THE WORLD IS OURS”

“It will challenge you, it will reward you and amaze you.”

The 2018-2020 Endowment Fund is offering you the whole world to make a difference in Washington State. We have the unique opportunity to grow and strengthen our state's activities by supporting our Endowment Fund which will increase the financial stability of the GFWC Washington State Vision.

Likewise, Washington State has one of the most rewarding funds that gives opportunities to young women to further their education, our Scholarship Fund.

These two opportunities allow us to make a difference in our communities, our state and our world, by affording financial help that will sustain not only the future of GFWC Washington State, but also to provide opportunities that will propel our scholarship recipients into the world at large.

Through voluntary contributions by individuals, clubs and districts to the Endowment Fund, you are helping to provide a portion of its annual investment (the spendable income) for operational expenses and direct costs of GFWC-WS.

Similarly, but without the ‘investment’ step, by making contributions to our Scholarship Fund, those dollars will directly impact the general fund, which will make those dollars readily available when the time comes to award those dollars to our scholarship winners.

The donation forms for these two funds can be found in the administration manual. The form for Endowment Funds will be mailed to me, and the Dues and Contributions Form will be used when sending Scholarship Funds (and all other donations), and mailed to Treasurer, Kim Skagen.

There are many ways in which you can make contributions....to honor a special club, state or district member, your years of Federation service, in memory of a deceased member or someone that has retired from their Federation service, or in thanks for the opportunity of being a member of this great organization.

Thank you in advance, for considering to make an investment in these two beneficial funds that will continue making an impact on our state and ‘Our World’.

Here we are in August already BUT we still have some Summer left and Fall is fast approaching. Don't forget to take the beautiful drive to Federation Forest. This is something we ALL should be very proud of. Take a nice, leisurely walk around the park, a picnic lunch and tour the Catherine Montgomery Information Center. Remember to take and share PICTURES, too.

Your club meetings for the coming year haven't met yet but many of you have been in touch this Summer (even doing projects). It is never too early to think of Conservation. Street/park clean-ups, clear out your closets, stack up and share those magazines! These can go to local waiting rooms.

The GFWC Manual is online and full of information and ideas... 6 pages for Conservation... pull it up for information on all programs and get a headstart and/or ideas for your first club meeting!

And what to do with those shoes?

Consider Nike's "Reuse a Shoe" & "Soles 4 Souls"

WEARING OUT POVERTY™

Since 2006, Soles4Souls has donated over
30 million pairs of new and gently-worn shoes.
Let's make it even more.

Help us change the world, one pair of shoes at a time.

If we're destroying our trees and destroying our environment and hurting animals and hurting one another and all that stuff, there's got to be a very powerful energy to fight that. I think we need more love in the world. We need more kindness, more compassion, more joy, more laughter. I definitely want to contribute to that.

You have the opportunity to affect the well-being of individuals, families and communities in a variety of ways by volunteering in this community service area. The GFWC website has numerous service ideas as well as our own GFWC WS to get you started. Canine Companions for Independence continues to be a GFWC Partner.

Soles4Souls is a project to help provide gently used or unwanted shoes for those affected by poverty. They have partnered with DSW.

Food banks, the homeless, food kitchens, Brown Bag Missions, Care Bags for Children, encouraging healthy life-styles, providing information on cancer, diabetes, Alzheimer's, heart disease and other health topics provide opportunities for your Clubs to meet the needs of your local communities. The list goes on and your Club can fill the need!

Martin Luther King Day (January 21, 2019) has been declared a National Day of Service. Consider providing bus passes to a homeless shelters, senior center or local high school.

Communications and Public Relations

Every club needs to have a website, but it needs to be a secure website. Contact your technology provider about installing an SSL certificate. When someone using Google as their browser tries to access a website lacking the prefix https:// , the user receives a pop up box or landing page warning that the content about to be accessed might be unsecure. And those warnings are only getting harsher as you are reading this. Don't risk driving visitors away from your website when there is a remedy. In the recent "GFWC Membership Quarterly", which was mailed to all club presidents and can be found at <https://www.gfwc.org/wp-content/uploads/2018/07/Summer-2018-Membership-Quarterly-for-website.pdf>, you can find more information about this important change to the internet. The newsletter also talks about other ways to build communication. Keep informed and inform others about GFWC

What We Did on Our Summer Vacation

June, July and August might be off months for AMALAK but that doesn't mean we're not busy.

In May we look forward our fun, festive and lucrative annual Plant and Book Sale. Not only is it a welcome sign of Spring but it's also a celebration of Mothers. Held on the Friday and Saturday before Mother's Day, the room is a labyrinth of newly potted cuttings culled from the local gardening gurus, creative yard art, fabulous treasures, books and yummy baked goods. It takes many members to pull off this event which requires set up, floor help and tear down. But our ladies always show up for a good cause. The only thing better than seeing a cute little guy with his arms wrapped around a special potted plant he picked out for his mom, is our bottom line total at the end of the weekend. $$$$

All work makes for dull ladies, and AMALAK ladies are anything BUT dull. This is largely thanks to our social coordinator Lois Swanstrom, who arranged our June social outing to Albertina Kerr in Portland for a delicious lunch and thrift shopping.

Our next event was Craft Day to celebrate the last day of school and the start of summer. Our attending school children enjoyed a nutritious lunch and an afternoon of table hopping to learn crafts like wind chimes, mosaic art, science experiments, lifting fingerprints, a sewing station and a construction area that included a lot of hammering. A good time was had by all. $$

By mid-July we were cooking...literally. Both with temps in the 90's and our concession booth at the Kalama Fair where we sold hamburgers, hot dogs and giant cookies donated by our members. Another great seller was handmade "cool collars" donated by Penny Carson. Way to capitalize on the weather, Penny!

With summer still underway and at least three more fundraising events on the calendar, we are sure to have plenty to report for the next newsletter.

GFWC Sokico Raises Funds for K9 Storm Patrol Vest

Members of GFWC Sokico Woman's Club held a Bunco fundraiser – membership event on July 21st at Pantera Lago Clubhouse in Kent, Wa.

Eight Sokico members provided food, beverages, prizes and a GFWC program with visual poster boards, for 25 guests plus special guest and speaker, Officer Kyle Buchanan of the Federal Way Police Department and his K9 officer Kaiser.

Of course, Kaiser was the hit of the event with his favorite toy ball on a leather tether, as he paced around the room for all to pet and play. Officer Buchanan displayed some training techniques with Kaiser and answered many questions from the interested and entertained guests.

Then it was on to the business of playing Bunco, and awarding the winning prizes. Door prizes were also given to the lucky names drawn.

The funds raised will purchase a new Storm Patrol Swat Vest for the newest K9 officer on the Federal Way Police Force, Vader, who has just turned two years old and is ready to be fitted for his new vest.

To date we have raised $1200 toward the purchase of Vader's Vest, so if anyone feels so inclined to help us out with this project, we'd gladly appreciate your support.

GFWC-Capital Woman's Club

Hello GFWC-WS Members,

Do you recall the cameo silent auction fundraiser at the GFWC-WS 2017 Spring Convention in Richland, WA? The convention speaker, Ellie Alexander, a bestselling writer of the Bakeshop Mystery series donated a set of her books and the cameo opportunity for fundraising. The winner of the cameo would submit a character name of her choice that would be used in Ellie Alexander's next Bakeshop Mystery novel.

Well it happened! The book was published and is out for sale in July 2018. The book title is "Till Death Do Us Tart." The author did warn that the character could have a brief appearance, a shop owner, the murderer or be murdered! Yikes!...A wait and see with excitement how the author will use the name submitted.

I had the pleasure of being the winner of the Cameo Silent Auction. As soon as Ellie sent a signed, advance copy of the book, I dropped everything to read the book! The name I submitted was "Jarvis O. Sandberg." It was fun and exciting to see what character Jarvis played in the book. Ellie wrote another excellent cozy murder mystery.

Once you begin reading Ellie's books, it's like eating potato chips, you can't have just one. Each of her Bakeshop mystery books, includes yummy food recipes. Look for her mystery series at your favorite book store. Also, the winner receives a signed copy of the manuscript...so if another cameo fundraiser comes your way, be sure to buy raffle tickets and be prepared for excitement if you win!

Another Fun Time At Convention!

GFWC-Springdale

GFWC Springdale members participate each year in July in Showcase in the Park, selling paperbacks and hardback books for a fundraiser. We also start our Annual Raffle at this time with the drawing to be held at our Mad Hatter Tea Christmas party in December, which is our biggest fundraiser. Money raised from these events is then used for our annual project of purchasing school supplies and backpacks for local school children. We give the supplies and backpacks to the teachers we have contacted for the children's needs and they distribute the purchases as they see fit.

GFWC Kirkland Woman's Club

In the month of May, Kirkland Woman's Club awarded 3 scholarships to the winners from Juanita and Lake Wahington high schools.

The process was very lengthy. First we contacted the school counselors to spread the applications, then we collected the applications. Second the member of scholarship committee read the applications then we met to decide who are the winners and last we informed the winners and others of our decisions and invited the winners with parents to our May luncheon.

Attached is the picture of the winners with two of the committee members, Shahin Mckinnie and Linda Woykuf

New officers installed in a barn on Flag Day, June 14

Members wore red, white and blue when attending the grand finale meeting of the club year on Flag Day. Hostesses Karen Rice and Pam Conrad arranged an All-American chicken barbecue in the well-decorated barn, home of a pack of alpacas raised on the Serendipity Alpaca Ranch.

The meeting also was the time for the installation of officers for 2018-19. Paulette installed the following in the photo below, left to right: Paulette Stinson, Treasurer Ruth Anne Lance (unable to attend, filled in by Johanna Hyatt), Vice President Valerie Huey, Secretary Bonnie Rippengale, President Mary Lee Miller. Each new officer was given a plant to correspond to the installation theme.

Special guests were the adorable alpacas on the ranch owned by the hostesses, Karen and Pam, members of the club.

Fifteen members attended the event where they learned about “all things alpaca,” from raising them to making products from their wool. Members were also able to interact with the animals.

Installing officer, Columbia District President and club member, Paulette Stinson used “the quality of flowers” as her theme to install officers for 2018-19.

Members assist veterans

On June 7th six members carpooled to Vancouver to provide and set up snack foods for veterans and their families staying at Fisher House, a home away from home for patients undergoing outpatient medical treatments. This is the second time the club has offered service to the facility.

Purchased foods were possible from the sales of shopping bags at the Ladybug Bazaar.

Preparing snack time for veterans were Mary Eastman, Lynne Frolick, Valerie Huey, Paulette Stinson, Mary Lee Miller and Louise Tucker.

GFWC Camas-Washougal

On Wednesday, May 9th GFWC Camas-Washougal installed their new officers. Our Installation of Officers was held at The Quarry, the senior retirement home of Bonnie Walden in Vancouver, Washington. Pictured below are incoming officers President Pat Suggs, Secretary Hope Gilson, and Treasurer Jeanette Jester. Unfortunately, our incoming Vice President, Susan Bennett, was on vacation. CMIC Dedication Ceremony June 21, 2018

Susan Tyler, Federation Forest Committee Chairman and Char Lysne, GFWC-WS liaison to WSPRC for the CMIC Project, were invited to participate in the dedication ceremony of the two carvings. Also in attendance were tribal members, leaders and relatives of the two carvers and WSPRC Director and other leaders from Parks. After presentations from parks staff and Char Lysne on behalf of GFWC-WS, tribal leaders shared about the importance of preserving and honoring their history of caring for this land before settlement. After the presentations, the two carvings were unveiled by the carvers. Lunch was served by the Muckleshoot Casino caterers and was enjoyed in the sunshine just outside the CMIC.

Here's some pictures and info I thought you would find interesting:

- The two 10-foot tall, hand-carved figures are traditionally referred to as house posts, not "welcome figures"
- Each Muckleshoot Village has one or two house posts, but the Muckleshoot rarely make carvings for non-Tribal buildings.
- Muckleshoot Carvers: Keith Stevenson and Tyson Simmons are self taught
- Carvings were made from a cedar log found on the forest floor in the park
 - Took about 3-4 months to make, they made their first cut on February 9, 2018 and the carvings were delivered to the CMIC in early June
 - Cost $10,000 (carvers were paid for their work with proceeds from WSPRC selling downed trees from the big winter storm two years ago)
 - Made with traditional tools and methods
 - The carvers referred to the hummingbirds as a "spirit helper" during the ceremony (they didn't elaborate beyond this)
 - They mentioned that the male figure is a representation of a tribal elder (they didn't identify who).

WHAT HAPPENS AT A MEETING?

Nancy Jones, Parliamentary Advisor

Let's put to work some of those parliamentary rules that Roberts has provided. Your meeting will run smoother, your members on both side of any questions will have an opportunity to speak and the "chair" will preside over a well-run meeting.

QUORUM

In most clubs there are always members absent for the regular meetings. You club should not be bound by decisions made by a small number of your members. To prevent this, a quorum (a minimum number of members who must be present) is required for a meeting to conduct business.

Clubs/districts/states usually decide what should be the quorum requires for their meetings. If you don't have specify a quorum number in your bylaws, then the quorum is usually a majority of your members. ("Majority" means more than half.)

When no quorum is present the meeting can only accomplish a very limited number of things. Even if your meeting starts with a quorum, if number of members leave during the meeting and should bring your number in attendance below that quorum number, you cannot continue with substantive business. Any actions taken in the absence of a quorum is invalid.

STANDARD ORDER OF BUSINESS

A meeting begins with the call to order by the presiding officer. After the call to order there may be a prayer, Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, or a thought for the day. Remember, God before Country (prayer first) then any thoughts, poems, reading after the flag salute. Most meeting follow a traditional order of business.

1. Reading and approval of the minutes – The chair says, "The Secretary will read the minutes." When the secretary has read them the chair says, "Are there any corrections to the minutes?" There are usually no objections to any corrections but should there be, there can be debate and a vote, on the proposed correction, can be taken. The chair would then say, "If there are no further corrections, the minutes are approved." The chair only asks for "corrections" because any additions made are corrections.

Today many clubs send out the minutes prior to the meeting or they are read and approved by a committee. Members should always receive copies of the minutes and can bring to the attention of the group any additional corrections they may see even if they have been previously approved by committee. If sent to members in advance, it is the member's responsibility to read the minutes and be prepared to make corrections at the next meeting.

2. Reports – the group hears reports from officers, boards, and committees of the club. The chair might say, "May we have the Treasurer's report?" The chair recognizes the chairman of the Membership Committee for a report." "Do any of the CSP Chairman have a report?"
If any of the reports by these officers/chairmen include recommendations for action by the members, these recommendations are considered by the group, debated and voted on the end of the report that contains the action.
3. Unfinished Business – following reports the chair calls for unfinished business. These are items that are carried forward from the previous meeting. The chair should bring these items up automatically as the first item of unfinished business. The chair should never call for "old business" because this would allow members to bring up business that was previously decided or was controversial when considered at previous meetings.
4. New Business – the chair asks, "Is there any new business?" New items may be brought up by any member by making a motion to bring it to the floor for discussion and vote.
5. Adjournment - When the meeting has completed all business, the chair says, "Is there any further business? Since there is no further business, the meeting is adjourned."

By following these simple steps your meeting will run smoothly and business can be accomplished efficiently. Meetings should run on time and members will be happy.
